

New perimeter security partner Hommax

A leading electronic security product
distributor

Hommax's commitment to efficiency and precision makes it the perfect fit for a collaboration with DAVANTIS.

The need to find a smart video analytics solution capable of guaranteeing high standards when detecting intruders and objects while drastically reducing false alarms was an essential factor of this new collaboration. What's more, our solutions are fully compatible with all brands of security hardware in the market, making them quick and easy to install.

Hommax, a leading name in security, will take DAVANTIS video analytics technologies to even more places. The company has more than 40 years' experience in the sector, and is a big-name distributor of small, medium, and large installations.

---

DFUSION is a solution capable of guaranteeing maximum detection while keeping false alarms to a minimum

---

In an ever-more-complex market, we are excited to be able to harness both companies' synergies to establish and increase the presence of DAVANTIS solutions in the national market.

Thanks to our extensive choice of video analytics solutions that improve efficacy in different sectors, different installations have been designed to adapt to all types of perimeter security needs.

DFUSION is a solution capable of guaranteeing maximum detection while keeping false alarms to a minimum through the fusion of the leading video analytics software in the market with highly advanced artificial intelligence technology.

This new alliance couples DAVANTIS' specialisation in perimeter protection with Hommax's extensive capacity to manage large-scale video surveillance projects.

Our video analytics solutions are a qualitative leap for early detection of security breaches and reduction of false positives, making them the best technology for perimeter control and protection.

We are excited to have Hommax as a partner for new security and video surveillance projects.

---

"Hommax is delighted to be able to offer our clients DAVANTIS video analytics solutions for even more effective perimeter security.

The result is the powerful combination of Hommax's more than 40 years of knowledge and experience and DAVANTIS' world-renowned proprietary technological research and development.

We are certain that detecting and covering our clients' needs together is a recipe for success and growth.

We are excited to set out on this journey together."

Teresa Ríos, Sales and Strategy Director at Hommax

---